REPORT OF THE SELECTION COMMITTEE FOR THE AWARDS
IN THE RURAL SECTOR (AWARDS COMMITTEE)

The Awards Committee comprised Philippa Forde from Trinidad and Tobago, as Chair; Carmen Galdona from Paraguay; and Gabriela de Morales from Panama.

We reviewed the curricula vitae of 33 candidates based on the regulations governing the Inter-American Awards. We note that nominations were received from only 16 of the 34 countries that make up the Inter-American System.

Inasmuch as the main purpose of the Inter-American Awards is to serve as an instrument for recognizing the outstanding contributions made by individuals and institutions to bring about the sustainable development of agriculture and the improvement of rural life, this Committee wishes to make certain recommendations regarding improvement of the process for selecting candidates and the work of the Awards Committee.

Below are the recommendations of this Committee:

- To update and improve the regulations governing the selection of candidates for the national and the Inter-American awards by defining more precisely the requirements for each award;
- To design a mechanism to encourage greater participation by the countries;
- To establish a standardized format for the presentation of curricula vitae. This will enable the Awards Committee to learn more about what the candidates have accomplished and how they have contributed to agriculture and the improvement of rural life;
- All nominations should be accompanied by a formal letter introducing the candidate, along with a brief justification for the nomination. This letter could come from the government, business, academic or nongovernmental sector;
- To design a mechanism to encourage prize laureates to continue to work on behalf of agriculture and the improvement of rural life;
- To entrust the Director General with publicizing the accomplishments and contributions of the laureates and to share them with other countries of the Inter-American System;
- To create a new category intended to recognize the contributions made by innovative producers and the impact they have on their communities.

We recommend to the Executive Committee that it set up a working group to implement these suggestions and recommendations. That working group would comprise representatives of IICA and the member countries of the IABA.
